To Whom It May Concern:

YOLANDA MARTIN MENDIETA (FREELANDA TRANSLATIONS)

For the past year Yolanda has undertaken freelance work for our company in subtitling the films we have produced, as well as the films that form our distribution arm. We act as a distribution agent for films into the South American market and thus need assistance in subtitling our films and translating all press material and related documents.

Yolanda has always provided us with fast, highly accurate and stylistically excellent translations. Her subtitling work always captures the essence of the English dialogue and her translation work equally hits the mark. She is intelligent, diligent and dedicated. It is clear that she takes her role as translator seriously and enjoys it immensely.

She has also been required to sit in on meetings and conference calls from time to time and act as an English to Spanish and Spanish to English interpreter. Again, she fulfils her role with precision and dexterity.

Yolanda will continue to be a valuable part of our business, and I commend her to any other companies who are in need of her freelance translation services.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Yours truly,

James Blick
